Summary

War On Cancer is a niche social network for everyone affected by cancer. Our vision is to radically improve the mental health of everyone affected by guiding them through a personal growth journey coping with the trauma cancer has inflicted and both finding and giving support to a community that needs and appreciates it. Furthermore we bundle this with the possibility for our members to participate in cancer research by answering simple targeted surveys (Health Studies) which can help partners such as the pharmaceutical industry better understand what is needed in terms of new treatments a cancer clinic how they can improve care and researchers understand what can create value for patients more than "just" survival.
